DETAILED ACTION

- Claims 1 and 5 were amended. Claims 1-5 as amended are currently pending with the application.
- Applicants perfecting the foreign priority by submitting the certified English translation of the priority application overcomes the prior art by Fukushima et al (Science, 2003, 300, pp 2072-2074).
- Applicant's amendment overcomes the rejections cited in the last office action, however fails to overcome the prior art by Chen et al cited in PTO 892. With regard to the argument that the present claim 1 does not require a polymer (although it does not exclude one) and claim 1 of 10/567,740 requires one and the subject of a double patenting rejection is not proper (Res, Pg-6, Section-1), the instant claim limitation does not exclude the addition of a polymer and has been maintained in view of Chen et al (US 2003/ 0077515) that is used in the present office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chen et al (US 2003/ 0077515).

Chen discloses a gel composite comprising a dispersion of carbon nanotube (CNT) in a polymer and further containing ionic liquid (Abstract, 0015, 0039, 0040, Claims 1, 7-9 and 16). The CNT in the composition included SWNT and MWNT. With regard to method in claims 3-4, the prior art composition is either same or substantially same as that obtained by the instant claimed process step. With regard to claim-5, the prior art teaches forming a film (desired shape) and it will be either be same or substantially same as that obtained by the instant claimed process step of using the composition. All the limitations of the instant claims are met.

The reference is anticipatory.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 1 is provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of copending Application No. 10/567,740 in view of Chen et al (US 2003/0077515). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant claim is drawn to a gel composition containing carbon nanotube and ionic liquid, and while the copending application <Allowed 10/5/2007> is drawn to a conductor material containing carbon nanotube, an ionic liquid and a polymer (as amended 07/03/2007), and the conductive nature of the copending composition in the instant composition would be obvious because they are drawn to similar compositions and because of conductive nature of carbon nanotubes. Further, the instant claim limitation of "comprising" does not exclude the addition of a polymer in the gel composition that would be obvious over Chen et al that has been cited in the rejection of instant claims and ionic liquids melt at near ambient conditions.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
